

Kiss It Goodbye

Lori Gordon

Saturday, October 1, 2005, ART on BART.

We will have the opportunity to sit and spend some time talking with one another. We will discuss your own personal concerns. These can be a current matter of frustration, a memory you may want to leave behind or a secret you want to tell. Once our conversation is over, I will provide you with the tools necessary to write it down, kiss it goodbye and have it shredded.

Consider this event a psychological adventure, an opportunity to participate in something unexpected. As we meet each other half way, and begin a private conversation in a public space, we will have to consider the anxieties of our fellow travelers. Through the act of unburdening yourself, an opportunity for some serious healing can occur.

FILL OUT AND BRING WITH YOU ON OCTOBER 1ST
