

BUSINESS RESUMPTION PLANNING SERVICES (DISASTER RECOVERY)

In today's competitive environment, organizations must achieve maximum operational efficiency. To keep their institutions competitive, executives are implementing plans and procedures to assure that growth objectives are met and institutional assets are protected. The security of one such vital asset – business continuity – has become a top priority because it may well spell the difference between future success and failure

The Objective is Business Survival

By definition, business continuity is the ability to survive, to compete and to meet business obligations under any circumstances.

Every organization faces some level of risks. Risk reduction is of great value, but risks cannot be completely eliminated, only mitigated. Risk from natural and unforeseen events could cause systems and other vital resources to be interrupted or damaged. Prolonged interruptions can lead to loss of revenue and threaten the survival of a corporation.

Ultimately, business resumption planning is a key part of an information policy to these mitigate risks.

Business Resumption Planning Consulting: The goals of MTT Associates is to provide services that assists clients in defining a Business Resumption Plan that enables their organization to sustain an interruption, and at the same time, satisfy customers, maintain revenues, minimize expenses, preserve market share.
