

Frederick Smith Jr., Chief Information Officer

Frederick Smith, Jr. is a seasoned business and technological executive with 25 years of experience in IT Senior Management at various industries which include in Financial Services, Healthcare, Utilities, Communications and Government industries, with a strong background in business management, enterprise system architecture and information system delivery. As EVP, Chief Information Officer of MTT Associates, he drives the overall strategic vision and operations for the company with a focus on customer success.

Prior to joining MTT Associates, Mr. Smith was Sr. Manager, Advanced Technology of Lockheed Martin Corporation. Mr. Smith organization consisted of 125 engineers, project managers and system architect focusing on business development, system engineering services, proposal development and technical program support. He brought a focus of business and technology focus to his Sr. Management role at Lockheed Martin Corporation.

Mr. Smith has a BS in Computer Science and Management from California State College, Master of Engineering in Industrial Engineering from Penn State University and MBA in Finance from Philadelphia University. Mr. Smith also received his certification in Lean / Six Sigma as a Black Belt.